

Call for Papers

The Department of Economics, Business and Statistics (DEAS), University of Milan
The Fondazione per la Scuola della Compagnia di San Paolo (Turin)
The Research Center wTw (Work, Training and Welfare)

are happy to announce the organization of the workshop

“Educational outcomes: empirical evidence and methodological issues”

That will be held at the University of Milan (Italy)
on June 13-14, 2006.

The workshop aims at gathering scholars working on the determinants of educational outcomes, with a particular emphasis on the evidence emerging from large scale international surveys (PISA, TIMSS, etc.) and related methodological issues.

Participants will include:

Andreas Ammermueller, Centre for European Economic Research (ZEW)
Arnaud Chevalier, Department of Economics, University of Kent
Peter Dolton, Department of Economics, Royal Holloway College, London
Kevin Denny, Geary Institute, School of Economics, University College Dublin
Michael Fertig, RWI-Essen
Fernando Galindo-Rueda, CEP, London School of Economics
Sandra McNally CEP and CEE, London School of Economics
John Mickelwright, School of Social Sciences, University of Southampton
Sylke Schnepf, Department of Economics, University of Southampton

The workshop will also include about 6-8 contributed papers.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Interested researchers are kindly invited to send a .pdf version of the paper by April 30, 2006 to antonio.filippin@unimi.it

Decisions of acceptance or rejection will be announced no later than May 15, 2006

The organizing committee will provide lunches and dinners at the conference venue, while travel and accomodation costs will not be refunded.

FURTHER INFORMATION

For further information please contact:

Antonio Filippin
antonio.filippin@unimi.it