

Economics of Education and Science

Call for Applications

European Science Days Steyr/Austria

July 9-13, 2006

Scientific Organiser: Philippe Aghion, Harvard University

The European Science Days 2006 are inviting applications for the summer school on "Economics of Education and Science".

Lecturers include

Philippe Aghion, Harvard University
Sandra E. Black, Princeton University
Eric Hanushek, Stanford University
Fiona E. Murray, MIT Sloan School of Management
Thomas Nechyba, Duke University
Mark Schankerman, London School of Economics
Scott Stern, Northwestern University
Manuel Trajtenberg, Tel Aviv University
Sarah Turner, University of Virginia

Each day will comprise six hours of lectures. Participants are encouraged to contribute posters for the poster sessions. Best posters will be awarded.

Graduate students and post-docs in economics, political science, sociology or related fields are invited to send their application to

European Science Days Steyr, c/o Dr. Alexandra Suess, via email: a.suess@ewts.at <http://www.ewts.at>

Applications shall include a CV, a brief statement describing research interests and achievements, and one letter of recommendation. We request the letters of recommendation to be sent by the recommenders directly to the above email address.

Deadline for application is March 31, 2006

No fees will be charged for the Summer School. Participants will be charged a contribution of Euro 400 for the cost of lodging, meals (breakfast, coffee breaks, lunch) and social events throughout the conference